Nippon Manufacturing Service Corporation is Proud To Announce Its Subsidiary Was the Only Japanese-Affiliated Company Appointed to the China Labor Dispatch Services Committee

北京日華材創國際技術服務有限公司（日華材創）（Beijing Rihua Caichuang International Technical Services Ltd. (Rihua Caichuang)), a subsidiary of Nippon Manufacturing Service Corporation (nms), which is expanding its manufacturing outsourcing operations, was the only Japanese-affiliated company appointed to the committee for labor dispatch services in China, which in Japan includes the dispatch of temporary employees, manufacturing workers, engineers and other workers.

In addition, the general manager of Rihua Caichuang, 張國梁 (Zhang Guoliang) was appointed the prestigious committee vice-chair.

While there are already businesses in China involved in labor dispatch services, there are no related laws or an organization to regulate the industry.

Therefore, the Labor, Economy, and Domestic Labor Dispatch Services Committee of the China Labor Association was established as an entity directly under the authority of the Ministry of Labor and Social Security, which is equivalent to the Japanese Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare, to examine standards for the labor dispatch services industry in China and examine related laws and regulations.

There were several reasons that nms subsidiary Rihua Caichuang was the only Japanese-affiliated company selected as a member. nms has been highly rated for being the first company in the industry to dispatch Chinese engineers to Japanese companies, promoting independent training programs at Chinese universities through government-linked organizations, and contributing to the development of human resources.

As the committee vice-chair, nms will work to create a legal framework for the labor dispatch services in China and energetically contribute to the establishment of standards for the industry.

Labor, Economy, and Domestic Labor Dispatch Services Committee of the China Labor Association

Established: December 28, 2010

Objectives:

- Propose laws and regulations related to labor dispatch services
- Propose standards for the labor dispatch services industry
- Hold seminars related to labor dispatch services (in Japan and China)
- Conduct other activities such as developing training programs and undertaking PR activities related to labor dispatch services

With the nms subsidiary Rihua Caichuang being the only Japanese-affiliated company on the committee, nms will have an advantage in the labor dispatch services market in China and will aggressively expand its business.
