Kyowa Hakko Bio to Transfer Part of its Business and Recognize Business Structure Improvement Expenses

Kirin Holdings Company, Limited (President and COO: Takeshi Minakata; hereinafter "Kirin") and Kyowa Hakko Bio Co., Ltd. (President and Representative Director: Koji Fukada; hereinafter "Kyowa Hakko Bio") have decided to carveout Kyowa Hakko Bio's amino acid and Human Milk Oligosaccharide businesses (hereinafter "certain businesses") to a new company and transfer it to a special purpose company, a subsidiary of Meihua Holdings Group Co. (hereinafter "MEIHUA"), a leading bio-manufacturing company in China, and today signed a contract regarding the business transfer. Kirin also announces that it expects to incur business structure improvement expenses as a result of the business transfer.

1. Reason for business transfer

Kirin and Kyowa Hakko Bio have been considering radical structural reforms with all options in mind, taking into consideration the medium- to long-term profitability prospects of the amino acid market and their own organizational capabilities (manufacturing and sales). We have determined that transferring Kyowa Hakko Bio's certain businesses to MEIHUA, which possesses advanced production quality technology, is the best way to ensure the continued delivery of high-quality products to our customers, and today we have agreed to conclude a transfer agreement.

The completion of this business transfer is subject to the completion of pharmaceutical registration and regulatory approval in each country, and these procedures are expected to be completed in the fourth quarter of 2025.

The value of this business transfer to MEIHUA is approximately 10.5 billion yen, which will be paid in cash. After the completion of this business transfer, Kyowa Hakko Bio will focus on the specialty materials business, including Citicoline. Kirin will continue to pursue further growth through the implementation of business structure reforms, including this business transfer, and the creation of new value.
