1. Overview of operating results, etc

(1) Overview of operating results during the period

During the first quarter of the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026 (April 1, 2025 through June 30, 2025), the economic environment was marked by heightened uncertainty, driven by a series of tariff measures imposed by U.S. President Trump, which disrupted the economies and trade policies of countries around the world. Additionally, rising geopolitical risks in the Middle East further intensified concerns about the future outlook. In the United States, although there was a temporary pre-tariff surge in automobile demand, overall growth rate of personal consumption slowed. Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board (FRB) closely monitored the impact of tariffs on the economy and decided to keep interest rates unchanged. In Europe, the central bank lowered interest rates against a backdrop of declining inflation rate, leading to a gradual economic recovery. In China, personal consumption saw a modest rebound as the government implemented a trade-in program to promote the replacement of consumer goods. In addition, a pre-tariff surge in demand in Asian countries led to an increase in exports of raw materials and components. In Japan, inbound consumption remained strong, and spending in service sectors such as dining out supported overall personal consumption. However, uncertainty surrounding the future impact of President Trump's tariff policies led to restrained and delayed capital investment in the manufacturing sector, raising concerns of a potential economic slowdown. In the foreign exchange market, the yen appreciated against the U.S. dollar compared with the same period of the previous year.

Under these circumstances, in the key markets of Nitto Group (the "Group"), accelerated production activity was observed in automobiles, IT devices, and high-end smartphones during the grace period prior to the implementation of additional U.S. tariffs, resulting in increased demand for our products. On the other hand, the yen's exchange rate against the U.S. dollar for the first quarter ended June 30, 2025, was 145.7 yen to the dollar, a 5.8% appreciation of the yen compared with the same period of the previous year, and the effect of the stronger yen decreased operating profit by 6.8 billion yen.

As a result of the above, revenue decreased by 1.3% from the same period of the previous year (changes hereafter are given in comparison with the same period of the previous year) to 246,192 million yen. Operating profit decreased by 15.9% to 42,645 million yen, profit before income taxes decreased by 14.4% to 43,307 million yen, net profit decreased by 13.3% to 31,322 million yen, and net profit attributable to owners of the parent company decreased by 13.4% to 31,303 million yen.

Summary of results by segment

① Industrial Tape

In Functional Base Products, revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. Demand for assembly materials used in high-end smartphones increased due to the expansion of models adopting battery bonding electrical release tape. In addition, demand for process materials used in the production of semiconductor memories and ceramic capacitors increased. Revenue for automotive materials decreased due to the decline in the number of automotive unit production by Japanese manufacturers in China.

As a result of the above, revenue increased by 0.5% to 85,780 million yen and operating profit decreased by 12.3% to 9,871 million yen.

② Optronics

In Information Fine Materials, revenue did not reach the level of the same period of the previous year. Demand for optical films increased due to the accelerated production of high-end laptop PCs and tablets. On the other hand, revenue decreased due to the strategic withdrawal from optical films for LCD smartphones and price reductions resulting from material rationalization of process protection films.

In Circuit Materials, revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. Demand for high-precision circuits increased due to the accelerated production of high-end smartphones. Demand for Circuit Integrated Suspension (CIS) used in Hard Disk Drives (HDDs) with higher capacity for data centers remained strong driven by the spread of generative AI.

As a result of the above, revenue decreased by 3.8% to 130,541 million yen and operating profit decreased by 19.4% to 36,755 million yen.

③ Human Life

In Life Science, revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. Demand for oligonucleotide contract manufacturing and nucleic acid synthesis materials (NittoPhase<sup>TM</sup>) used within the manufacturing process increased. Additionally, for the large-scale project expected to be commercialized in the future, preparations are underway to begin production from the second quarter of the current fiscal year.

In nucleic acid drug discovery, Phase 1 clinical trial of intractable cancer drug was completed in the first quarter of the previous fiscal year and the Group continues to work toward out-licensing its pipeline.

In Membrane (high-polymer separation membrane), revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. Demand for Zero Liquid Discharge (ZLD) contributing to the complete reduction of industrial wastewater and effluent increased due to the tightening of environmental regulations relating to wastewater in India and China.

In Personal Care Materials, revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. The Group promoted our new products in hygiene materials for diapers and environmentally friendly products using biodegradable technologies.

As a result of the above, revenue increased by 2.9% to 32,476 million yen and operating loss amounted to 1,630 million yen. (operating loss of 3,140 million yen was reported in the same period of the previous year)

④ Others

Please note that this segment includes new products that have not generated sufficient revenue yet. The Group is concentrating our management resources on themes that are candidates for PlanetFlags/HumanFlags in areas of next generation semiconductors, environmental solutions, and digital health, with the aim of commercializing them as early as possible.

As a result of the above, revenue increased by 170.8% to 3 million yen and operating loss amounted to 1,700 million yen. (operating loss of 1,756 million yen was reported in the same period of the previous year)
