1. Overview of operating results, etc

(1) Overview of operating results and financial position during the period

① Overview of operating results

Overview of overall business

The economic environment in fiscal 2024 saw changes in the monetary policies, as the Central Bank of Europe and the United States began to lower interest rates in light of the easing of global inflationary pressures. In the United States, while consumer spending remained strong, the Federal Reserve Board (FRB) lowered interest rates due to a gradual slowdown in the labor market. Since the inauguration of the new President Trump administration, concerns about the resurgence of inflation intensified after the president announced his intention to impose additional tariffs and other policies. In Europe, while consumer spending recovered as a result of an increase in real income, manufacturing sector declined, particularly in Germany. In China, the government implemented a trade-in program to promote the replacement of consumer goods in response to a slowdown of the economy caused by a prolonged real estate recession and a harsh employment environment. In Japan, the economy experienced moderate recovery as a result of wage increases that outpaced inflation, growth in inbound consumption due to the record number of foreign tourists visiting Japan, and robust capital investments made by corporations.

In the foreign exchange market, although a volatile environment was observed with the yen rapidly appreciating from a historically weak levels that exceeded 160 yen against the U.S. dollar, the yen weakened compared with the same period of the previous year.

In the key markets of Nitto Group (the “Group”) under these circumstances, demand for our products increased due to higher-than-expected production of high capacity Hard Disk Drives (HDDs) used in data centers, and IT devices.

The yen’s exchange rate against the U.S. dollar for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025, was 152.9 yen to the dollar, a 6.3% depreciation of the yen compared with the same period of the previous year, and the effect of the weaker yen increased operating profit by 23.3 billion yen.

As a result of the above, revenue increased by 10.8% from the same period of the previous year (changes hereafter are given in comparison with the same period of the previous year) to 1,013,878 million yen. Operating profit increased by 33.4% to 185,667 million yen, profit before income taxes increased by 33.4% to 185,329 million yen, net profit increased by 33.6% to 137,307 million yen, and net profit attributable to owners of the parent company increased by 33.7% to 137,237 million yen.

Summary of results by segment

(Industrial Tape)

In Functional Base Products, revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. Demand for assembly materials used in high-end smartphones increased due to expansion of models adopting existing materials as well as from the launch of new electrical release tapes used for fixing batteries in place. In addition, demand for process materials used in the production of semiconductor memories and ceramic capacitors continued its gradual recovery. Demand for automotive materials were sluggish due to a decrease in the number of automotive unit productions.

As a result of the above, revenue increased by 5.3% to 355,733 million yen and operating profit increased by 19.0% to 46,043 million yen.

(Optronics)

In Information Fine Materials, revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. Demand for optical films and transparent conductive films (ITO) increased significantly as the production of high-end laptop PCs and tablets remained strong. Additionally, while the number of global automotive unit production remained sluggish, demand for high durability optical films also increased due to expansion in automotive display size and increase in the number of displays installed.

In Circuit Materials, revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. The spread of generative AI has pushed up demand for storage used in data centers as well as for HDDs with higher capacity, and thus the demand for Circuit Integrated Suspension (CIS) increased significantly. Demand for high-precision circuits increased, as the production of high-end smartphones remained strong. Separately, the Group decided to discontinue commercialization of plastic optical fiber cables and recorded an impairment loss, etc. of 2,690 million yen during the third quarter of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025.

As a result of the above, revenue increased by 15.4% to 542,999 million yen and operating profit increased by 39.0% to 173,121 million yen.

(Human Life)

In Life Science, revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. In the oligonucleotide contract manufacturing business, the production of projects that are expected to be commercialized at a future date started at our new plant established in Massachusetts, United States. In addition, demand for nucleic acid synthesis materials (NittoPhase<sup>TM</sup>) used in commercial drugs increased among some customers. In nucleic acid drug discovery, Phase 1 clinical trial of intractable cancer drug was completed in the first quarter and the Group continues to work toward out-licensing its pipeline.

In Membrane (high-polymer separation membrane), revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. While demand for various industrial applications decreased particularly in China, demand for Zero Liquid Discharge (ZLD) contributing to the complete reduction of industrial wastewater and effluent increased due to the tightening of environmental regulations relating to wastewater in India.

In Personal Care Materials, revenue increased from the same period of the previous year. The Group promoted our new products in hygiene materials for diapers and environmentally friendly products using biodegradable technologies. Separately, after reviewing the business plan for Nitto Advanced Film Gronau GmbH, a consolidated subsidiary of the Group, the Group recorded a goodwill impairment loss of 3,298 million yen during the fourth quarter of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025.

As a result of the above, revenue increased by 6.1% to 132,098 million yen and operating loss amounted to 11,902 million yen. (operating loss of 9,490 million yen was reported in the same period of the previous year)

Separately, after reviewing the business plan for flexible sensors at Nitto Bend Technologies, Inc., a consolidated subsidiary of the Group, the Group recorded a goodwill impairment loss of 5,199 million yen during the third quarter of the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025.

As a result of the above, revenue increased by 53.9% to 19 million yen and operating loss amounted to 12,229 million yen. (operating loss of 5,661 million yen was reported in the same period of the previous year)

(2) Outlook for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026

In the fiscal year ending March 2026 (April 1, 2025 to March 31, 2026), the global economy is showing signs of intensifying trade friction as President Trump's implementation of reciprocal tariffs on global imports to the U.S. has led some countries to suggest retaliatory measures. Furthermore, the U.S. has long been the driving force behind the global economy, but there are growing concerns of a slowdown in the U.S. economy occurring alongside a rise in inflation, resulting in stagflation and has thus heightened uncertainty about the future of the global economy.

Under these circumstances, the Group is entering the final year of the medium-term management plan, "Nitto for Everyone 2025". In an ever-changing environment, the Group will anticipate the next growth point and aggressively invest resources in areas that will grow, while at the same time implementing structural reforms in low-growth and low-profit areas to build a robust business foundation immune to the external environment. In addition, the Group aims to simultaneously solve social issues and create economic value by growing PlanetFlags/HumanFlags certified products into Niche Top, which we define as products that contribute to the environment and humanity. Through these initiatives, the Group will continue to move forward toward realizing our 2030 Ideal State: an "essential top ESG company" that continually brings amazement and inspiration as a Niche Top creator.

In Industrial Tape, against the backdrop of progress in Right to Repair regulation for electronic devices such as smartphones particularly in Europe, expansion of models adopting our electrical release tapes used for fixing batteries in place that newly launched in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025, is expected. Taking advantage of the momentum toward the creation of a resource-recycling society, the Group will leverage our releasing technology to further expand our business. In addition, with the spread of generative AI, demand for process materials used in the production of semiconductor memories and ceramic capacitors is expected to increase. On the other hand, while the automotive materials are expected to continue to face a challenging business environment due to a sluggish growth in the number of global automobile unit productions, the Group will continue to build a business foundation that can consistently generate high profit margins in the Industrial Tape segment as a whole.

In Information Fine Materials under Optronics, as the display market matures, the Group will focus on high-end products for automotive displays and foldable smartphones. For automotive displays, the number of displays installed per vehicle and expansion in display size has been robust for the past several years, and demand for our high durability optical films is expected to remain strong. For foldable smartphones, as new displays that do not require optical films are becoming mainstream, the Group is developing products that assign optical properties to Optical Clear Adhesive (OCA). In addition, the Group will actively promote CO<sub>2</sub> emissions reduction by reducing solvent use in manufacturing process and pursue further added value as a total solution provider for display peripheral components.

In Circuit Materials, continued rise of storage demand for data centers in the HDD market, and further increase in HDD capacity driven by advances in new technologies such as HAMR (Heat-Assisted Magnetic Recording) are expected. In light of this, the Group will increase production capacity at our site in Vietnam and expand the sales of products for HAMR. For high-precision circuits, the Group is working on developing new products used in other applications for our existing customers.

In Life Science under Human Life, demand for oligonucleotide contract manufacturing business is expected to increase, consistent with the progress of large-scale projects that are expected to be commercialized at a future date. Furthermore, increase in production is expected at our new plant in Massachusetts, United States which started production during the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025. In nucleic acid drug discovery, the Group will continue to focus on developing nucleic acid Drug Delivery System (DDS) designing technologies and concluding licensing agreements. For the development of intractable cancer drug, the Group continues to work toward out-licensing its pipeline.

In Membrane (high-polymer separation membrane), in response to the tightening of environmental regulations relating to wastewater in various countries, demand for products contributing to the complete reduction of industrial wastewater and effluent is expected to increase, particularly in India.

In Personal Care Materials, the Group will continue to improve profitability by expanding sales of new products in hygiene materials for diapers and environmentally friendly products using biodegradable technologies.

For new businesses in Others, the Group will concentrate our management resources on themes that are candidates for PlanetFlags/HumanFlags in areas of next generation semiconductors, environmental solutions, and digital health, with the aim of commercializing them as early as possible.

For the year ended March 31, 2025

During the fiscal year ended March 31, 2025, impairment losses were 12,339 million yen, which are included in "Other expenses".

The major factors are as follows.

The Company has made a decision to discontinue commercialization of the plastic optical fiber/cable in Circuit Materials under Optronics segment and recorded impairment losses of 1,846 million yen on production equipment, etc. Accordingly, the carrying amount was reduced to the recoverable amount of zero. The recoverable amount is calculated based on the fair value less costs of disposal (projected sale value, etc.), and is categorized in the fair value hierarchy as Level 3.

In addition, the Company has recorded impairment losses of 5,199 million yen on goodwill related to the flexible sensor business of Nitto Bend Technologies, Inc. belonging to Others segment. This was because the initially envisioned revenue could no longer be expected as a result of reviewing our business plans, and it was expected that the carrying amount could not be recovered. The recoverable amount is calculated based on the fair value less costs of disposal based by the discounted cash flow method, and is categorized in the fair value hierarchy as Level 3. The key assumptions are projected demand and a discount rate in our business plan. The discount rates (before tax) for the previous fiscal year and the current fiscal year are 29.0% and 28.3% respectively.

In addition, the Company has recorded impairment losses of 3,298 million yen on goodwill related to Nitto Advanced Film Gronau GmbH belonging to Human Life segment. This was because the initially envisioned revenue could no longer be expected as a result of reviewing our business plans, and it was expected that the carrying amount could not be recovered. The recoverable amount is calculated based on the fair value less costs of disposal based by the discounted cash flow method, and is categorized in the fair value hierarchy as Level 3.
