The Nippon Koei Group established the Integrated Design & Engineering Holdings Co., Ltd. (Director and Representative Executive President, Hiroaki Shinya) and transitioned into a holding company structure on July 3, 2023 (Mon).

The business environment surrounding the Group is undergoing rapid change and there are growing expectations and opportunities for growth. As well as the need for technological innovation and the creation of added value through the digital transformation, the increasing promotion of measures to build more robust infrastructure aimed at making nations and regions more resilient to natural disasters, increasing demand for infrastructure and urban development projects particularly in emerging economies, and growing interest in the environment and clean energy both in Japan and overseas all represent business opportunities for the Group.

Under this circumscision, following deliberations on achieving our long-term management strategy, the company has decided to deepen group management from a medium-to-long-term perspective and, to make future growth more specific, to transition to a holding company structure and conduct reorganization.

The name of the new holding company is "Integrated Design & Engineering Holdings Co., Ltd." When abbreviated or in Japanese notation, the company name will be "ID&E," which is an acronym. The "Design" & "Engineering" express the company as a comprehensive consulting and engineering company that includes the energy business in addition to the "civil engineering and construction" advocated in the previous long-term management strategy. It also expresses that the Group will integrate diverse fields and promote one-stop business in the future. Nippon Koei has expanded its business under the management philosophy "Act with integrity and contribute to society through technology and engineering." since its establishment. In the future, under the new structure, the Group will concentrate its strengths to achieve further growth and improve corporate value with the same management philosophy.
